

The Washington County Barn Quilt Committee was established in the fall of 2007 and has continuously worked to place "barn quilts" throughout the county. Our goal is to call attention to our new and historic barns and showcase the heritage of the art of quilting in our community.

Each quilt design represents a personal connection to its owner and may only be used once. These eight-foot square panels are carefully painted according to the owner's specifications and then hung with care by Salt River RECC on barns and other significant buildings. Some panels are free-standing, mounted securely beside the road.

To assist you, all quilt locations are indicated on a map in this brochure. Please enjoy your tour through Washington County!
