Letter from the First Lady

Dear Friends,

It is my pleasure to welcome you to the 2026 Kentucky Crafted Market, a celebration of the creativity, talent and entrepreneurial spirit that make our New Kentucky Home such a special place.

As First Lady, I've had the pleasure to meet artists and makers across the commonwealth who keep our traditions alive, share Kentucky's stories and build meaningful lives through their work. The art you'll experience at this Market isn't just about incredible skill and imagination, but the heart and dedication of Kentuckians who make our communities stronger.

The arts play an important role in bringing us together. Through creativity, we share experiences, celebrate our differences and find common ground. At the same time, Kentucky's artists and makers are small business owners — innovators who create opportunity, support their families and help drive economic growth in communities both large and small. The Kentucky Crafted Market honors that full picture: art as expression and art as enterprise.

Whether you are a longtime Kentuckian or visiting for the first time, I invite you to take time to connect with the artists, learn about their creative processes and experience the remarkable work being made across our state. I also hope you'll enjoy everything the Market has to offer, from live music on the Market Stage and hands-on activities for young artists to food from New Kentucky Home vendors that showcase our rich culinary traditions.

Thank you for being part of this celebration and for supporting Kentucky's artists, makers and creative entrepreneurs. Together, we are helping build strong communities and a future where creativity continues to thrive across the commonwealth.

Warmest regards,
Brittainy Beshear

The Folklife Zone

A thriving music community must have skilled musicians, music teachers, creative writers and composers, and great-sounding instruments. The last ingredient, especially stringed instruments, is made possible by luthiers, who specialize in making, repairing and setting up guitars, banjos, violins, mandolins and more.

This year's Folklife Zone features guitar maker Glespie Ray Deweese, winner of the 2019 Homer Ledford Award, who will share some of his instruments, tools and processes with visitors. Deweese grew up in Butler County, where he learned woodworking from his neighbor, celebrated Kentucky long rifle maker Hershel House. Deweese is known for building traditional, jumbo, dreadnought, and 000 Martin style acoustic guitars, but his works also include electric six-string and bass guitars. In addition to crafting guitars, Deweese is skilled at performing standard maintenance and repairs, including neck and bridge adjustments, refinishing, and fret work on a variety of stringed instruments.

Folklorists from the Kentucky Folklife Program and Folk Studies at Western Kentucky University will introduce visitors to Ray Deweese and share stories from the Sonic Landscape exhibit on display now at the Kentucky Museum in Bowling Green, which includes Deweese and many more music makers and supporters that make south-central Kentucky an amazing musical region.

At the crossroads of north and south, east and west, south-central Kentucky has long been a hub for musical expression and exchange. Whether raised here or just passing through, musicians gravitate to Bowling Green and its surrounding region. Their journeys have resulted in some of popular music's greatest innovations and sounds, from early jazz to newgrass to country-rap. Sonic Landscape tells their story, in their own words, for the first time.

The Kentucky Folklife Program at Western Kentucky University has a mission of documenting, presenting and conserving the diverse traditional culture and heritage of the commonwealth.

Hands-on Activities

Yes Arts

Join Yes Arts for a communal needle felting experience on a sign that will say, “Kentucky Crafted,” and an opportunity to make a corn husk doll.

Yes Arts provides a robust youth prevention program known as YAY (Yes Arts Youth). YAY Program Leaders and Youth Mentors are trained on trauma-informed care, implicit bias, neurodiversity, child abuse, and ACES (Adverse Childhood Experiences) risk and protective factors. YAY exists to create a safe, inclusive space for children of all ages and abilities to find strong mentors, lasting friendships and quality arts instruction to reduce the risk of falling into the cycle of addiction and to mitigate harm due to generational trauma. Additionally, Yes Arts offers community programs: a professional gallery featuring the work of local and regional artists, outreach programs for community engagement and a roster of more than 75 teaching artists. We offer therapeutic arts services through our ART (Achieving Recovery Together) Program, for people in recovery from substance use disorder in partnership with the Franklin County Drug Court and other local nonprofit partners. All programs follow evidence-based, data-driven practices and work within all stages of the cycle of addiction, from primary prevention to recovery.

Kentucky Historical Society

Join the Kentucky Historical Society to learn about Kentucky murals and their history and create a mini-mural to take home.

The Kentucky Historical Society (KHS) was formed in 1836 by a group of prominent Kentuckians intent on preserving the history of the commonwealth. We are a membership organization with members from Kentucky and around the world. We are part of the Kentucky Tourism, Arts and Heritage Cabinet; have full American Alliance of Museums accreditation; are a Smithsonian affiliate; and endorse the History Relevance statement. We educate and engage the public through Kentucky's history in order to meet the challenges of the future.

Hands-on Activities

Lexington Children's Theatre

Get a sneak peek at Lexington Children's Theatre's sweet and sparkly One Picture Book, 1 Lexington production, Pinkalicious, based on the beloved book! Make a star wand and decorate cupcake-themed bookmarks — the perfect way to add a little pink-tastic magic to the day. Craft, play, and learn more about the shows and how to get involved at LCT!

Founded in 1938, Lexington Children's Theatre (LCT) is a fully professional, nonprofit organization dedicated to the intellectual and cultural enrichment of young people. LCT presents nine shows a year for all ages, hosts theatre school in our home theatre on Short Street, as well as residencies in schools. As the State Children's Theatre of Kentucky, LCT can tour productions to people all over the state and reach more than 60,000 Kentuckians a year through all these programs.

Living Arts and Science Center – Saturday Only

Join the Living Arts and Science Center (LASC) to discover the traditions of Kentucky folk art through hands-on paper weaving and God's Eye weaving. This easy, beginner-friendly project invites all ages to create colorful designs while learning a bit of Kentucky's rich craft heritage. Visit the LASC booth to join in the activity and make your own woven artwork.

The Living Arts and Science Center programs are hands-on and interactive instruction in arts and science directly from professional educators and active artists and scientists. Activities include collaborative experiences for the community, educational programs in schools, community centers, attractions, and other venues; as well as free programming for all members of the central Kentucky community.

The LASC also offers education tailored to special needs, at-risk and underserved children and adults. The staff and board of directors support this mission by maintaining high ethical standards and efficient oversight of the LASC.

Hands-on Activities

Woodford Theatre – Sunday Only

Step into character with Woodford Theatre. Props and costume pieces will be set up for children and families to take photos, share and tag on social media.

At Woodford Theatre Young Artists (WTYA), our mission is to inspire, educate and empower young people through the magic of theatre. We provide a kind, respectful, nurturing and inclusive environment where students can explore their creativity, build confidence, and develop lifelong skills through performance and collaboration. By celebrating every voice and encouraging self-expression, we foster a love of the arts and a strong sense of community — onstage and beyond.

At WTYA, students meet throughout the school year and engage in weekly comprehensive training led by experienced theatre professionals passionate about mentoring young artists and preparing them for the future.

Our curriculum offers hands-on instruction in all aspects of theatre, including acting, singing, dance, design, and technical production. In addition to regular classes, students gain valuable experience through local and regional performance opportunities. To enrich their learning, guest artists with specialized expertise are brought in throughout the year, offering unique insights and expanding the students' creative horizons.

Marcus Wilkerson, world

Marcus Wilkerson, aka M. Lightsmith, is a singer-songwriter, poet and multi-instrumentalist. Wilkerson creates platforms to tell stories through song and feels a responsibility to tell the story of his ancestors, African, Creole and European, actively serving as a proponent for generational healing through song.

3 p.m.

Appalachia to the Andes, world

Appalachia to the Andes is a four-member band of Appalachian and Latino artists that performs traditional and original music from their folk opera Cornbread and Tortillas, which is itself a storied journey of music and dance that explores the common ground between Appalachian, Southern, and various Latinx cultures.

Individual Artist Fellowships are given to Kentucky artists who have achieved a high level of excellence and creativity in their work.

Emerging Artist Awards are for early-career, professional Kentucky artists who demonstrate excellence and creativity in their work.

Folk and Traditional Arts Apprenticeship Grants honor traditional artists and encourage the continuation of Kentucky's living traditional arts by funding mentor artists to teach skills and practices vital to their cultural heritage to less experienced artists within their disciplines.

Kentucky Crafted is an adjudicated program that assists Kentucky visual and craft artists through marketing and promotional opportunities and arts business training. Artists in this program are included in the Kentucky Crafted directory and are eligible to exhibit at The Kentucky Crafted Market.

The Performing Artists Directory is an adjudicated program that promotes, showcases, and provides professional development opportunities to a diverse selection of Kentucky's finest contemporary and traditional performing artists.

The Kentucky Poet Laureate is appointed by the governor for a two-year term based on nominations collected by the Kentucky Arts Council and is expected to travel the state promoting the literary arts at meetings, seminars and conferences.

GRANTS & PROGRAMS

The Kentucky Arts Partnership Grant Program provides unrestricted operating support to arts organizations to ensure that year-round participation in the arts is available to Kentuckians.

The Kentucky Touring Grant is a matching grant that helps make quality public performances available to Kentuckians. This program supports presenters to book performers of dance, music, theater, and storytelling from the Performing Artists Directory.

The Arts Miles Directory makes high-quality artistic field trips accessible by connecting arts organizations with preK-12 schools.

The Kentucky Peer Advisory Network consists of arts professionals on the Kentucky Peer Advisory directory available to provide six-hour consultancies, paid by the arts council, to assist eligible organizations and individual artists with board development, grant writing, marketing and promotions, strategic planning, festival planning and other activities.

GRANTS & PROGRAMS

The Arts Miles Program enables Kentucky teachers and schools to offer students high-quality arts experiences by providing transportation funding for school field trips.

The Teaching Art Together Grant supports teachers collaborating with professional artists on the design and implementation of innovative one-week residencies. Residencies provide teachers with tools to continue to incorporate the arts into the curriculum after the residency is complete.

Sign up for our monthly newsletter, Arts-E-News featuring announcements, events and opportunities in the arts.

The Community Scholars Program trains members of a community in documentation, interpretation and dissemination of their unique local cultural resources and traditional art forms.

The Teaching Artists Directory is an online directory of Kentucky artists who produce high-quality artistic work and have the skills and competencies needed to work with teachers and students in designing and implementing arts education programs.

Want to Become a member of Kentucky Crafted?

Kentucky Crafted is an adjudicated program that provides assistance to Kentucky visual and craft artists through marketing, promotional opportunities and arts business training. Visual and craft artists must jury into the program to become eligible for the Kentucky Crafted Market and other sponsored events. To apply, artists submit an artist statement and four work samples, which are assessed on their artistic excellence and marketability by a panel of arts professionals and other individuals with relevant experience.

FOR THE ARTS

Thank You

Dear Friends of the Arts,

Thank you for coming to the Kentucky Crafted Market, a celebration of the talent, creativity and craftsmanship that make Kentucky a true artistic hub. We are delighted to welcome you to the Kentucky Horse Park's Alltech Arena, a venue that reflects both the scale of this event and the spirit of our state's rich cultural heritage. Whether you are joining us as a wholesale buyer or as a member of the public, we hope this Market is an inspiring and memorable experience.

Each year, the Kentucky Crafted Market brings together artists from across the commonwealth who are eager to share their work and their stories. From fine art and hand-crafted jewelry to pottery, woodwork, textiles and more, the breadth and quality of work on display reflect the creativity thriving in every corner of Kentucky. For wholesale buyers, the Market offers a unique opportunity to connect directly with artists, build meaningful business relationships, and support Kentucky-made products that strengthen local economies.

The arts have a unique power to connect us — to celebrate shared experiences and to honor the diverse perspectives that shape our communities. Through art, we tell our stories, express who we are, and build understanding across differences. As you explore the Market, we encourage you to engage with the artists, learn about their creative processes, and take home a piece of Kentucky that speaks to you.

In addition to the Market floor, we invite you to visit the Market Stage, where live performances showcase the depth of Kentucky's musical talent — from traditional roots to contemporary sounds. Families will also find hands-on activities for young artists, along with food from Kentucky Proud vendors offering a taste of the commonwealth's culinary traditions.

The Kentucky Crafted Market is more than an opportunity to view and purchase art. It is a celebration of the creative spirit that brings people together, supports small businesses, and enriches communities across Kentucky.

Thank you for being part of this year's Market. We hope you leave feeling inspired by the creativity, hospitality and beauty that define Kentucky and its artists.

Sincerely,

Chris Cathers
